Dear Mr. Charles Harold,

This is in response to your request for estimate(s) of monthly retirement income and/or a lump sum cashout from the University of California Retirement Plan (UCRP) as of 06/01/2015
For additional information on the difference between disability and retirement benefits, please refer to the publication, From Disability to Retirement Factsheet, which is available in the Forms and Publications section at http://ucnet.universityofcalifornia.edu/ or by calling UC Customer Service at 1-800-888-8267.

Your UCRP retirement benefit is calculated based on a formula that includes your service credit (service from employment and service accrued while receiving disability income, if any), age at retirement, and your University salary. Your contingent annuitant, if designated, may be your spouse, domestic partner, or any other person.

Unlike UCRP Disability Income, Retirement Income is a lifetime benefit. If you choose a monthly income, you may continue your UC sponsored medical, dental, legal, and/or vision if enrolled. If you are subject to Graduated Eligibility, any years of service you accrued while receiving Disability Income will be credited towards the percentage UC contributes to your insurance (please note there is no UC contribution towards the legal or retiree vision plans).

Alternatively, you may elect to receive a lump sum cashout in lieu of monthly retirement income. The lump sum cashout is a single payment approximating the present value of the retirement income you would expect to receive over your lifetime, including cost-of-living adjustments. If you elect a lump sum cashout, you will not be eligible for continued medical, dental, legal or vision insurance coverage. In addition, you would forfeit your right to all future UCRP benefits, including the basic death benefit and survivor benefits that might otherwise be payable to your family on your behalf.

The calculation of your monthly retirement benefit and lump sum cashout amount enclosed are estimates only and assume a service cap date of June 1,2015 with total service credit at service cap of 21.1667 Your HAPC is $3601.557 Changes in your retirement date, marital or domestic partnership status, or in the data used to calculate these estimates may impact your potential retirement benefit. Your actual UCRP retirement benefit will be based on final payroll and benefit information and may be different from what is shown.

For more information about your retirement benefits and options, please contact UC Customer Service for the following publications: University of California Retirement Handbook and

University of California Retirement Plan Summary Plan Description. These publications may also be found on the At Your Service website (http://ucnet.universityofcalifornia.edu/).

If you choose to terminate your UCRP Disability Income benefit and elect either retirement income or a lump sum cashout, your Disability Income will be terminated at the end of the month prior to your retirement or cashout date.

If you receive disability insurance benefits under the Employee Paid Disability Plan, there may be an adjustment to your disability insurance benefit if you elect retirement. Please contact your benefit provider directly if you have questions about how this adjustment will affect your disability insurance benefits. You can reach Prudential at 1-800-842-1718 and/or Liberty Mutual at 1-800-838-4461.

In order to begin the processing of your retirement income or lump sum cashout, please contact UC Customer Service at (800) 888-8267 between the hours of 8:30 am and 4:30 pm Monday through Friday to request to receive a Personal Retirement Profile and Retirement Election Kit.

Sincerely yours,
